DR. KINNICUTT IS IMPROVING.

The Operation for Appendicitis Expected to Prove Successful.

Dr. Francis P. Kinnteutt, of No. 42 West Thirty-seventh street, who was operated upon by Dr. W. T. Bull last Saturday evening for appendicitis, was in such an improved condition has sight that his physicians have strong hopes of his recovery. He is a very stok man, however. Appendicitis is due to inflammation of the vermiterin appendix, a small sec attached to the intestine, and an organ which performs no known tanction. The disease has but remely come to the notice of the medical profession, and, by a peculiar coincidence, for Kinnicaux, who is new supposed to restricted with it, was one of the first, it not the first, but the first of the profession only relief to be obtained in event or the vermitor mappendix becoming inflamed is by for appendicitis, was in such an improved only relief to be obtained in event of the verificers appealix becoming in lamed is by removing the organ with the write, and the operation is fraught with danger. Instammation of this apparently seless appendage to the intestines is due to the presence in the sac of a reed or other location substance, which leaves the matural course of the canal and is deposited there.

It was said yesterialy that nothing of this character was found in the cream removed from Dr. Kinnicutt, and as Dr. Buil failed to keep an appointment last togel, to threw some light upon the matter, it sain remains an open question as to just what the next physician streadle really was.

HENNIG'S UGLY LOOKING KMIFE.

William Hennig, a diamond importer, of No. 101 West Fourteenth street, was arrested Monday evening by Policeman Pitzgerals at the Hunter's Point side of the East Thirtyfourth street ferry. Fitzgerold says that when he directed Hennig to keep his carriage in line Hennig hit him with his wing.

At the Hunter's Point station-house a belt with an ugly-looking knite in a sheath was found on Hennig. After being looked up several hours he was licerated on furnishing $500 bonds for examination. Hennig said he carried the knile because he usually had a large amount of money with him. He will be charged in the Long Island City Police Court to-day with disorderly conduct, assaulting a policeman and carrying a concealed weapon without a permit.
